

EL PASO RATES ARE ATTACKED

Phoenix, Ariz., Aug. 12.—Rates from El Paso and other Texas points on cement to Arizona points will come under fire September 11, when examiner Keene, of the Interstate Commerce commission, will hear the complaint of the corporation commission attacking the existing rates. Other cases which will come up for hearing at the same time involve rates to Arizona points on apples, fresh fruit, vegetables and sugar. Most of the rates attacked are from California producing points, although the rates on sugar attacked include those from El Paso.

Imposition of a new penalty charge of 10¢ a day on all open top cars or cars loaded with lumber, coal or coke is proposed in a tariff filed with the Arizona corporation commission by J. E. Fairbanks, agent for Arizona carriers. The proposed charge would apply in the case of lumber shipments after 48 hours after the hour at which free time begins to run under the demurrage rules. The penalty in the case of coal or coke shipments would apply at the expiration of free time and be in addition to all other demurrage charges. The commission has not as yet set the application for hearing, nor taken any action in the matter.

CHIEF PLEASED WITH HIS CITY

Fire chief John Wray returned to El Paso Wednesday afternoon, after attending the convention of the international association of fire chiefs in Toronto, Can. Within 10 minutes after he walked into his headquarters at Central station chief Wray answered an alarm to 404 North Campbell street, where the residence of J. H. Armstrong was threatened by a small fire under the porch. According to the chief his chief impression on the trip was an enlarged satisfaction with El Paso.

Has Horse Equipment.

"I went from here to Dallas," he said. "There the Texas chiefs gathered and went to St. Louis. We spent one day there and then went to Detroit, where we spent Sunday. Detroit has horse drawn apparatus. There I saw one of two features of apparatus which I found unusually good, and I shall consider the adoption of several minor improvements which I saw there."

From Detroit we went on to Toronto. While at the convention I invited the fire chiefs to hold their next meeting in El Paso, Atlantic City and Tulsa, Okla., also made strong bids, but of the three I think El Paso was the most favored."

While on the trip the chief spent some time at Niagara Falls. He was one of a party which descended to the lower level and went in behind one of the largest sections of the falls. The party, according to the chief, descended winding stairs for about 400 feet.

"Then we climbed on a bridge in front of the falls and went to a little house where we were given clothing for the trip. This consisted of flannel garments and a slicker with a hood. As one walked out of the house and behind the falls the spray was so strong that it took one's breath. This could not face that spray and yet it was a delightful experience to feel it beating on one's back. This was one of the best features of the trip."

In St. Louis the chief had the pleasure of locating a boyhood chum, whom he had not seen for years.

Prices high everywhere. "Prices here are not worse than in other cities," the chief said. "Toronto is a more or less slow town, but I paid more for meals there than I would in El Paso. I found the cities we visited in the United States as high and higher than El Paso."

TO PUSH BELL-REEVES DRILLING

Pecos, Tex., Aug. 12.—The Bell-Reeves, the Pecos community well, will be underrun in order to carry a larger sized casing down to the oil sands found by the drill last Saturday, and this larger casing will be cemented. This decision was reached following a conference of drillers in the local field. They declared that by carrying down the larger casing the well could be handled to much greater advantage. As the well was started with the expectation of finding the shallow 700 foot sands, an eight and one-quarter inch casing was used at the start and the five and three-eighths will be carried down to the sand.

Heavy Gas Struck. A heavy petroleum gas struck by the Jack Wells Co. to the south of the Bell-Reeves at 1050 feet, has stopped that well, and a larger rig will be moved on the site before drilling on. The small Keystones on the location has about reached the limit, and it was believed advisable to get a larger rig rather than to try to handle a well with the small rig at that depth. Checks of the Jack wells and the Bell-Reeves show while at variance for the greater part of the distance, check for about the last 100 feet in the Jack wells and it is believed that they are on the same formation as that in which the Bell-Reeves found its sand.

Hard, Black Lime.

A hard, black lime formation with some rainbows is reported by the Morenci well on section 32, block 21, 20 miles straight west of Pecos. This showing was hit at 700 feet. Gable & Frisch have resumed drilling on section 14, of this block, after the arrival of materials, and Zwick & Stepp, on section 23, of this block, are drilling at about 250 feet.

The Duquesne Oil company has started operations on section 16, block 45, township 4, Culberson county, on the Daugherty ranch. This is a standard rig.

The Zone Oil company is drilling 700 feet, 13 miles northwest of Pecos, in a formation with a heavy showing of sulphur, a formation believed to lie near the oil sands in this field. The Toril Bell No. 1 has resumed drilling at 150 feet following the receipt of repairs. This well is just west of the Bell. The Toyah-Bell No. 2 is drilling at 700 feet near Porter-tilla, just east of the Pecos river, near the Bell well.

McGraw and His Chauffeur MUST TELL OF CLUB FIGHT

New York, Aug. 12.—Assistant district attorney Joyce announced tonight that John J. McGraw, manager of the New York Giants, and William Maegan, a chauffeur, had been asked to appear at the tomorrow for questioning regarding the fracas at the Lamb club early Sunday in which McGraw is said to have been badly battered by another club member and the later finding of John C. Slavin, well known actor, with a fractured skull in front of McGraw's home.

Slavin is said to have interceded and stopped the fight at the club. Winfield Liggett, retired naval officer, told the district attorney today that later he and Slavin accompanied McGraw home in a taxicab, although McGraw, who he said had been drinking, wanted to go alone. When they reached McGraw's home, Liggett said, McGraw got out first, Slavin next and himself last. Liggett added he stopped to talk to Slavin, who was when he turned around he found Slavin lying on the sidewalk. With McGraw's help, Slavin was lifted into the vestibule of the house. Liggett added he later took Slavin to a hospital and McGraw went up to his apartment. Liggett declared he did not see any one hit Slavin, but added that the chauffeur was in a position to see just what happened.

Slavin's condition although no longer regarded as serious, is such as to prevent the taking of his statement. McGraw has been confined to his home under a doctor's care and has refused to talk.

LUCKY STRIKE cigarette—it's toasted. Lucky Strike tobacco—it's toasted. Both are toasted. You cannot get the remarkable and unusual flavor of toasted Burley tobacco in any other brand.

How is it that this toasting process preserves so successfully the original Burley flavor? Because it's sealed in.

Take the case of the bee and the honey. The bees have the right idea. To lock in that fragrant and delightful flavor of clover honey they put a thin coating of wax over the whole honey-comb.

You know yourself that honey can stand unbroken on a shelf for months or years, and be just as good when it's used.

And that's what happens with the Burley tobacco used in making Lucky Strike.

In each Burley leaf there are little pores like a sponge. In the heat of toasting these pores are sealed. The Burley flavor is there, inside.

When you light your Lucky Strike cigarette or your pipe full of Lucky Strike tobacco the heat releases the Burley flavor for your benefit.

You Wouldn't Eat Bread That Was Only Half "Risen"

Half "risen" means only partially fermented, and causes flatulence and indigestion.

Yet, unless you choose wisely, you will be apt to drink one of the half-fermented beverages that the great demand for soft drinks has called forth in a rush.

Drink Schlitz in Brown Bottles. It is wholesome, fully fermented, and then Pasteurized. These processes take time.

When you make bread, you allow it to ferment fully, rise to double its bulk. Then you bake it, to kill the ferment—which is a living organism. After fermentation is complete, the ferments should be killed. They have done their work.

So with Schlitz. It is aged—fermented—fully ripe. Then it is Pasteurized so as to kill the ferments, which, as living organisms, are not good for the stomach.

When we say Schlitz is pure, we mean that it contains no living organisms to ferment in your stomach.

Why trifle with a two-day "rapid-transit" beverage? It is bound to make your stomach resentful. Order Schlitz—and be certain of pleasant after-effects.
